The Frank E. Long Co.

Last Tuesday evening, for the first time in many months, the Grand opera house was packed to the doors, the crowd in attendance being so large that prospective ticket purchasers were obliged to turn away from the office. The attraction was "A Man Among Men," the opening play of the Frank E. Long dramatic troupe. The company was billed for a week's engagement here commencing last Monday, but owing to the heavy fall of snow in upper Michigan they were unable to reach here until Tuesday morning. The delay only seemed to whet the appetites of our play loving people and the sale of seats was most gratifying to Mr. Long and his players. "The Middleman," in which Mr. Long so well impersonates the character of Cyrus Blenkhorn, was presented Wednesday evening to an audience of good size. This is perhaps Mr. Long's strongest play. It has been given here at least three times and still holds its prestige with the people. The "Marble Heart" or "Lost and Won" was the bill for Thursday evening and while it was by no means new to the audience it seemed to be well liked and probably was appreciated. "A Prodigal Husband" was presented Friday night and "Santiago" Saturday night with an afternoon matinee. The moving picture program between acts was an enjoyable feature of the entertainments.

Pay Up and Get a Big Prize. Farm Journal Free Years.

By special arrangement made with the publishers of the Farm Journal we are enabled to offer a 5-year subscription to that paper to every new subscriber who pays for the NEW NORTH one year ahead; and the same offer is made to every old subscriber who will pay all back dues and one year in advance—both papers for the price of one only.

In order to get the Farm Journal as a premium for advance payment it will be necessary to walk right up to the captain's office, for we have only a limited number of 5-year subscriptions to dispose of. The Farm Journal is on solid foundation and perfectly trustworthy.

The Child Provided For.

Many of our readers will remember the sad case of the death of Mr. and Mrs. Goom, who lived on the north side. Mr. Goom was on the pension rolls and drawing a small pension, and a few days before his death he received notice that he had been granted an increase, but the voucher did not come until four days after his death and the family was unable to draw the accrued pension. Shortly after the death of her husband Mrs. Goom made application for a pension for herself and minor child, little Maude. In the meantime Mrs. Goom herself was taken sick, and there being no one to look after her pension claim it made poor progress. In a short time her reason became clouded and it was apparent that she would survive but a short time, and if she was to receive any benefit from her pension claim it would have to come very soon. By special arrangement one of our citizens took the claim in hand at a time when it appeared to be useless to attempt to do anything with it, and proceeded to prosecute it. Soon after the claim was well under way the widow died in the hospital for the insane at Oshkosh. Here was another drawback, and the work had to proceed along new lines. But by energetic work and persistent effort all obstacles have been overcome and the child Maude not only has been granted a pension of $10 per month until she is 16 years of age, but she is also given the accrued pension of both father and mother, amounting to $511.25. Justice has been done in a most worthy case.

Arbor Day.

Gov. Scofield issued a proclamation Wednesday, March 15, designating Friday, May 12, as arbor and bird day. This day is getting to be generally observed throughout the state, and the public schools of Rhinelander will probably observe the day. He says in his proclamation:

The practice of planting shrubs and trees in school grounds and public parks and of cultivating an interest in bird life, in the observance of the day, have shown such beneficial results in the beautifying of public grounds, and the preservation of our native songbirds, that it is especially desirable to encourage by all means possible, an interest in the day.

Judge McCormick Writes From Phoenix.

PHOENIX, A. T., Mon. 8, 1899.

EDITOR NEW NORTH:—I wrote you before from Ash Forks, which is the point on the Santa Fe route where you change for Prescott and Phoenix. I tried to give you some idea of the utter barrenness of the country between San Bernardino, California, and Ash Forks. The ride to Phoenix is only a little less barren, until you come within forty or fifty miles of the capital city. It is then that one's surprise begins. Here lies a valley a hundred miles long by half as wide, which is the finest I ever saw, exceeding even the Los Angeles valley. It produces the finest oranges, apricots, figs, pomegranates, peaches, pears and almonds, besides all kinds of vegetables, and is probably not equalled anywhere for its alfalfa product. I have seen this grass a foot high and which will be ready to cut in two weeks. A crop of alfalfa can be produced here in three weeks in the summer season. With proper irrigation four or even five crops are harvested in a year. It is now selling readily here for $10.00 a ton, while the cost of producing it is about $2.00 per ton. It is only fair to say, however, that it does not always bring the high price which now prevails, the present demand being largely caused by the crop failure of the past two years in southern California. But there is a sure way to get good returns from the crop by feeding it to stock. This is the ideal grazing and stock country. Figure to yourself a field covered with foot high growth of this beautiful dark green grass, surrounded by a line of tall, heavy topped cottonwood trees, in full leaf at this time, dotted with fat cattle, with a beautiful modern house of brick near the road, having a lawn with palm, pepper trees, cactus, flowering flowers and oleanders and you will have a scene to be met constantly in a drive in any direction from Phoenix at this time of the year. The prices of these lands range from $50.00 to $100.00 per acre for the alfalfa lands and up to $200.00 per acre for the orchard farms. All the garden vegetables are to be had at the markets now and from the vegetable wagons on the streets.

I can imagine no more independent, certain and pleasant way of making a living than to own say one hundred acres of this land and raise alfalfa and pasture stock. A good income may be made by pasturing the cattle for the owners who pay $1.50 per month per head for this privilege.

Arizona also possesses great resources in the way of onyx and stone uncles, besides gold, silver and copper. The Arizona brown stone is easy to work and hardens in the wall and is the most beautiful I ever saw in color. The onyx is of the finest. I saw it in the Green hotel annex at Pasadena, which is one of the finest in its interior finish in the country.

I saw Col. McCord's ranch where he has fine orchards of peach, pear, apricot and almond trees, besides alfalfa. He lives in a most commodious and elegant brick house in the best residence portion of the city.

I also found Dr. Wylie, formerly of Wausau and later of West Superior, doing a very large practice here and receiving the recognition which his ability so well deserves. I also had the pleasure to meet Mr. Sturdevant, formerly of Merrill, our "Lige's" father, who had moved to Phoenix after I left Rhinelander last fall, and who is now settled here. This is a better climate for invalids than southern California, and at a proper elevation is indeed ideal in this respect.

Phoenix itself is no less of a revelation than is the country which surrounds it. It would be difficult indeed to find a city of like size anywhere that has so many things to be said in its favor. It is thoroughly cosmopolitan. People by the hundreds are to be met here from all parts of the country. The streets, hotels, public buildings, business blocks and private residences will compare very favorably with those of cities of many times its size. It is modern and up to date in every respect. It has beautiful parks and is constantly making improvements and additions in this respect. The people are wide awake and enterprising, and if anyone comes to Phoenix with any thought of finding people who do not understand their business he is destined to a rude awakening.

I had the privilege of attending several sessions of the Arizona legislature and found men in both branches who would compare well with the members of like bodies in any of the states.

The professions are filled with bright, able men, learned in their respective callings, with a strong predominance of the younger element.

While the people of the east have been shivering in the grasp of blizzards, this climate has maintained an even temperature of from 50 above zero at night to 80 above at noon.

With such a surrounding country and such resources of soil and climate, as the capital and commercial metropolis of the territory, and with such an enterprising population, it requires little faith to predict that the next ten years will find here, as queen of this delightful valley, a city of fifty or even a hundred thousand people.

The Murphy Meetings.

A large crowd greeted W. J. Murphy, the son of the famous Francis Murphy, on Sunday evening at the Baptist church. The Congregational, M. E. and Free Methodist churches united in the service. W. J. Murphy is a man of excellent presence and an eloquent speaker. He moved the crowd with his vivid pictures and at the close about 140 took the pledge and donned the blue ribbon. On Monday evening a large attendance again was present and about 50 entered the ranks.

Tuesday evening, in spite of other attractions, a large crowd assembled to hear the famous Francis Murphy speak on "Real Life." He spoke of his early life, his falling into drinking habits, and restoration. His address was given with all the old time fire and pathos. His vivid word pictures aroused the greatest enthusiasm. His picture of leaving his fish home and crossing the sea, and the description of Lincoln guiding the ship of the nation through the storms of the civil war, were bits of oratory not often equaled.

This (Thursday) evening the meeting will be held at the Grand Opera House, and all should attend. They commence work at Wausau Sunday.

We have saved many doctor bills since we began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home. We keep a bottle open all the time and whenever any of my family or myself begin to catch cold we begin to use the Cough Remedy, and as a result we never have to send away for a doctor and incur a large doctor bill. For Chamberlain's Cough Remedy never fails to cure. It is certainly a medicine of great merit and worth.—D. S. MEAKLE, General Merchant and Farmer, Mattie, Bedford County, Pa. Surprised The Pastor.

The lecture at St. Mary's church last Saturday evening by the pastor, Rev. V. Bally, was attended by a large number, the proceeds netting the ladies of the Third Ward, under whose management the lecture was given, over $25.00. After the lecture a reception was given in honor of Rev. Bally's birthday anniversary. In appreciation of his worth as their pastor, and of many kind services rendered, the ladies presented Rev. Bally with a fine set of nicely bound books in token of their esteem. The occasion was a most enjoyable one.

The company owns and controls a tract of 760 acres of land in Oregon on which is located 1,000,000 feet of timber.

May Visit Rhinelander.

There is likelihood that the Louise M. Brechany Opera and Concert Co. of Chicago will appear here in the near future. H. B. Thearle, the company's manager, having written here for information regarding how a high class musical entertainment would take. Miss Brechany was the soprano soloist with Remenyi when the latter played here and numbers with her supporting company Sautot, the Belgian pianist, who also supported the great violinist.

A Bad Scare.

A party of Rhinelander people consisting of E. G. Squier, E. C. Sturdevant, F. Solberg, F. Fredericksen and brother, J. Preby, J. Johnson, Asa Newell and ye editor, en route for Choate, Mich., last Friday, had a narrow escape from death. In a collision on the Choate branch of the Chicago & North-Western railroad. The party started out of Watersmeet on a special train run by Conductor Commingore and drawn by Engineer Driscoll. It consisted of engine, caboose and an accommodation coach. This was the first trip Conductor Commingore and crew had ever made over the branch, and it proved to be a disastrous one for them. At Sandhurst, where the Yiskocate, is where the collision occurred. The train crew on the special made two attempts to turn the train around, and not succeeding, they ran the coach and left them and started to go round with the engine. A logging train with ten carloads of logs came dashing down the main track and smashed into the back end of the coach, demolishing everything. The engine was driven into the coach up to the bell, taking off the head light and smoke stack. It knocked out the trucks and crushed in the back end of the coach, and drove it down the track about 80 rods before it could be stopped. The hind trucks were left out in the woods.

Baggage man McDowell was standing with his back to the door talking to a cook who had boarded the train at the last station, and hearing a noise looked out just in time to see the logging train come thundering along at about twenty miles an hour. It was then only about three carloads, and quickly realizing the situation, grasped the cook and buried him toward the forward end of the car, at the same time jumping for the open door with a yell which will never be forgotten by those who heard it. The occupants of the car, thus made aware of the danger, all grasped for something for protection, but the crash came before they could speak. Every seat in the car was splintered, and things generally demoralized, and amid the wreckage the passengers could be seen in almost every conceivable position. The escaping steam and smoke from the engine sent terror to the hearts of all in the car, who naturally thought their time on this earth was short, but each soon came to his senses, and it was found that no one was seriously hurt. To be sure Sturdevant's horn and Johnston's hat showed visible signs of the wreck, but the horn soon recovered, and Lige took a few bars to assure his fellow passengers that all was well.

There were only two persons in the caboose, and while nothing about the car was broken, the occupants did not escape as luckily as did those in the coach. Mr. Joseph Black, a lumberman of Oshkosh, and Morrison, the brakeman, were riding in the caboose when the crash came, and both were quite badly injured. Mr. Black when found was unconscious, sitting bolt upright, eyes wide open, and with one ear torn almost off. The brakeman was unable to move a muscle. The unfortunate men were carried to the boarding house on stretchers, and Dr. O'Malley immediately summoned, who did everything possible for the wounded men. Dr. Nevins, the physician for the North-Western Company, soon after arrived on a special from Ironwood, and when the Rhinelander party left Choate Saturday the injured men were resting easy and no serious results were anticipated.

E. G. Squier and a lady passenger, Mrs. Miller, from Mt. Clemens, Mich., escaped the scare and the shake-up, for when the engine left the train they got on the danger and rode around the Y to see it work.

The Rhinelander party were going to Choate to assist in properly celebrating St. Patrick's day at that place, and Squier's orchestra was to furnish music for the dance in the evening. When Mr. Squier returned and took in the situation, he made up his mind that he would have to be the whole orchestra, as his musicians had all been left in the car which was now a total wreck. They were all able to report for duty, however, and the dance was a great success. About seventy couples participated in the dance, and a large crowd of spectators enjoyed the evening's pleasure. An elegant supper was served which was partaken of by all. The dancing continued until 5 o'clock Saturday morning.

The hall and opera house at Choate is a nice one, though small, and would do credit to a much larger place—Rhinelander for instance.

I've Been All Over Town Looking and here I am again, to get that suit, hat and shoes. We hear something like that from our customers every day. It is only a natural occurrence, because those nobby outfits we offer are good through and through—natty in appearance—combinations of superior fabrics and best trimmings fashioned into the newest shapes—the latest ideas selected for critical buyers, worked by the most skillful talent to be found—the characteristic fashions in men's and boys' clothes. Made also to withstand the most rigorous wear. They are such values, such desirable sorts—and the prices—well, they have been clipped and pared till there is but a trifle left above the cost of materials—and it is absolutely natural attraction which brings people to our store again and again.

H. LEWIS,

Gray's Old Stand, Rhinelander, Wis.

Died.

At her home in the town of Antigo, March 19, Mrs. Victoria Chatterton, aged 55 years.

Deceased was born in Boardingham Maine in 1844. In 1874 she married Joseph Davis and immediately came West and settled at Rosendale, Wis. Four children were born to them. One son, Willy Davis, and three daughters, Mrs. Nelly Lytle, of Rhinelander, Mrs. Chas. Smack, of Milwaukee, and Miss Grace Davis, of Antigo. In 1885 they came to this county and settled in the town of Antigo where she has since resided with the exception of three years spent in Rhinelander. In 1890 her husband departed this life, and in 1892 she was married to her present husband, C. W. Chatterton, who now survives her together with her children who remain to mourn the loss of a kind mother.

The deceased was gentle and genial in her ways and gave evidence of refinement. She was a consistent Christian, a kind and obliging neighbor, and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Her last illness was of short duration. The funeral services took place Monday afternoon at her home. Rev. W. A. Peterson conducted the services. Her remains were interred in the city cemetery.

The above notice was taken from the Antigo News-Item and refers to the mother of Mrs. A. J. Lytle, of this city.

RHINELANDER. • WISCONSIN.

THE richest person in India in private life is a six-year-old boy, who has just inherited an estate of $3,000,000. He is the son of the late Sir Asman Jah, and his mother has been appointed sole executrix of the estate until he becomes of age. The estate is estimated at 27 crores, which is equivalent to $1,500,000.

Those who only casually look at the map are seldom impressed with the enormous size of our northern cousin. Canada needs only 237,000 square miles to be as large as the whole continent of Europe; it is nearly 50 times as large as Great Britain and Ireland, and is 500,000 square miles larger than the United States.

THE smallest perfect watch ever made is owned by a Russian princess. It was first placed in an exquisite gold case, covered with the most minute but literally perfect Watteau scenes in enamel; then at the princess's desire the works were removed and placed inside a splendid diamond, scarcely two fifths of an inch in diameter.

ICELAND is the oldest colony possessed by any European country. It has belonged to Denmark since 1264. Originally colonized by Norwegians in 874, it remained a republic till 1292, when it became subject to the Norwegian crown. In 1559 Norway and Denmark were united, and when these two kingdoms separated Iceland remained Danish.

It is said that Rudyard Kipling never carried any money with him when he was in Brattleboro, his wife attending to everything in the financial line, and he is said to have placed under her control even his own income, which has been estimated at over $20,000 a year. One day when he had no tobacco he asked his coachman to buy him a plug, and said to him: "You can collect for Mrs. Kipling."

A BROKEN wooden headboard and a neglected mound of earth in the Ft. Yates (N. D.) military cemetery mark the resting place of Sitting Bull, the great Sioux medicine man, whose wily brain planned the deathtrap of the Little Big Horn into which Gen. Custer's command fell. On the broken headboard is written: "No. 31, Sitting Bull, Indian." Relic hunters have cut most of the headboard away.

ALL deep-sea sounding records are believed to have been broken by the British cruiser Penguin, which reports having sounded to a depth of 7,502 fathoms, or 23,772 feet, in the Pacific ocean, between New Zealand and the Tonga islands. The Penguin also found out that Falcón island, which was formed during a volcanic eruption in 1853 and disappeared last September, has sunk 15 feet below the surface.

THE president of the London Institute of Civil Engineers reaches the conclusion, in a recent address, that a good seat in a first-class train is about the safest place in the world. In the same period, he says, in which 24 persons were killed on the railroad by accidents for which they were not responsible, 1,500 people were suffocated in bed, 145 were choked by food in dining rooms, and 925 fatalities resulted from falling down stairs.

THE Montana legislature has passed over Gov. Smith's veto a bill empowering the owners of two-thirds of the stock of a corporation to compel the holders of the rest of the stock to sell at an appraised valuation, or accept stock in another corporation in exchange for their holdings. The bill will enable the Montana copper companies to go into a trust if owners of two-thirds of the stock so wish, and many people think that this is the purpose of the bill.

MANY persons, if asked how long it takes the earth to turn once on its axis, would answer 24 hours, and to the question, "How many times does it turn on its axis in the course of the year?" the answer would be 365 1/4 times. Both answers are wrong. It requires but 22 hours and 54 minutes for the earth to make one complete turn, and it makes 366 1/4 turns during the year. The error springs from a wrong idea of what is meant by a day. The day is not, as is commonly supposed, the time required by the earth to make one turn on its axis, but the interval between two successive passages of the sun across the meridian.

A RECENT deer hunt in England possessed some unusual features which demonstrate the remarkable accuracy of recent developments in the intelligent stag hounds. The deer they were running dashed through a herd of over a hundred of its kind, but the highly trained animals followed the line of their quarry through this immense herd, and after a four and half mile run brought down the right one. A few of the young hounds were tempted from the path of virtue by the deer that were skurrying wildly in every direction, but the body of the pack with remarkable steadiness never wavered from the true scent.

A GERMAN authority has recently announced the discovery of a tree in the forests of Central India which has most curious characteristics. The leaves of the tree are of a highly sensitive nature, and so full of electricity that whenever touches one of them receives an electric shock. It has a very singular effect upon a magnetic needle and will influence it at a distance of even 50 feet. The electrical strength of the tree varies, it being strongest at midday, and weakest at midnight. In wet weather its powers disappear altogether. Birds never approach the tree.

THE REBELS ARE ROUTED.

Gen. Wheaton and His Troops Give Aguinaldo and His Forces a Crushing Blow.

INSURGENTS FIGHT HARD BUT IN VAIN.

Hundreds Are Killed and Wounded and Many Are Captured—Loss to the Americans Is Slight—Headquarters of the Chief Soon to Be Attacked.

Manila, March 16.—Aguinaldo's forces met with another crushing defeat Wednesday in the most important engagement since the first attack on Manila. Hundreds of the natives were killed, hundreds more wounded and 525 were taken prisoners by the Americans. Scores of corpses of Filipinos slain in the battle floated down the river. The loss to the United States army was slight.

Deliver Back. Two thousand well-armed natives opposed the advance of Gen. Wheaton's brigade. They were apparently the pick of the Filipino army, for they showed more bravery and determination than any body yet facing the United States soldiers. In spite of vigorous resistance the natives were driven back by the Americans, who poured deadly volleys into their ranks.

Complete Rout. The engagement, which continued several hours, ended in the complete rout of the Filipino force. The men under Gen. Wheaton held undisputed possession of the towns of Taguig, Pateros and Pasig, or at least what still stands of them, for large portions of Pateros and Pasig have been destroyed by fire.

Move on Aguinaldo's Headquarters. It is the plan of Gen. Wheaton to follow up his present advantage and press forward with all possible speed. The flying column, which has already spread disaster among the native forces, will move as rapidly as is practicable toward Aguinaldo's headquarters. With the Filipinos in their present demoralized condition, little further resistance is expected, the division of the native army by the American cordons at Bay Lake giving a great advantage to Wheaton's brigade.

Dispatch from Oila. Washington, March 20.—The war department has received the following dispatch from Gen. Otis regarding operations against the insurgents:

"Manila, March 19.—To Adjutant General, Washington: Our improved gunboats under Capt. Grant, Utah artillery, have full possession of Laguna de Bay; troops, inhabitants and property on shore of lake at our mercy. Wheaton brigade on Pasig river line drove enemy northeast into province of Moron. Last evening enemy attacked portion of his force south of Pasig, killing two men and wounding 20 of the Twenty-second infantry. This morning Wheaton moved against this insurgent force, driving it to the south 15 miles, experiencing very slight loss. Enemy left 20 dead on field. (Signed) OTIS."

The Oregon Arrives. Manila, March 20.—The United States battleship Oregon, accompanied by the Iris, arrived here Saturday after its long voyage from the Atlantic. The big vessel is in splendid condition. Admiral Dewey regarding it ready for any duty with the fleet. With this valuable addition to the navy the American plan of campaign against the Filipinos can be carried out with no further delay.

THE DEED OF A FIEND.

August Becker, the Chicago Sausage Maker, Confesses That He Cut His Wife to Pieces.

Chicago, March 15.—August Becker, the sausage maker, confessed that he killed his wife with a hatchet in their home in this city, cut her body into small pieces, boiled them in a kettle until they were almost disintegrated, burned the mass of flesh in a stove and buried the bones in the prairie near his house. The police went to Becker's barn with him and returned with the bones, found where Becker said he buried them.

Brokers Must Pay War Tax.

Chicago, March 20.—Sellers of options on all boards of trade, according to advice sent from Washington, must give the buyer in each trade a written memorandum thereof, with war revenue stamps attached. Ruling to this effect will be handed down by the United States supreme court today. For each $100 in value of each trade a one-cent stamp must be attached.

Died Suddenly.

Boston, March 20.—Rev. Dr. Albert S. Gannett, pastor of the Dudley Street Baptist church and one of the most popular and influential clergymen in the city, died suddenly as he was preparing to go to the church yesterday morning of neuralgia of the heart. He was 46 years of age.

May Be a Republic.

Madrid, March 18.—The queen regent has decided to renounce the authority she exercises in behalf of her son, the minor King Alfonso, and the feeling prevails here that the days of the Bourbon dynasty are numbered and a republic may be the outcome.

Death of a Noted Educator.

Chicago, March 20.—Dr. Oliver May, dean of Northwestern university, and professor of natural history in that institution, died Sunday at his home in Evanston, after a long illness, aged 79. Dr. May was considered an authority on all natural sciences.

Entitled to Extra Pay.

Washington, March 18.—The comptroller of the treasury holds that the men who enlisted in the regular army or in the volunteer service for the war with Spain are entitled to extra pay.

WORK OF A CYCLONE.

Great Damage Done to Property in Several Southern States and a Number of Persons Killed.

Memphis, Tenn., March 20.—A special to the Commercial Appeal from Birmingham, Ala., says: Additional details of Saturday night's cyclone near Edwardsville were received here late Sunday night. The following is a list of the dead, so far as known:

Lewis Coffey, aged 25, tax assessor of Cleburne county, and the following members of his family: Mrs. Coffey, aged 45; Leila, aged 22; James, aged 20; Lulu, aged 18; Jacob, aged 12; Devereux, aged 11; Dollie, aged 10; Grover, aged 8; John, aged 6; unknown woman, near Heflin.

The wounded number 14. Hickory Flat, Miss., March 20.—A tornado struck this place Saturday, doing considerable damage to buildings and other property. The school building and two churches were demolished and 25 dwellings blown down or unroofed. Several persons received painful injuries. A family living west of here lost its dwelling and a young woman was killed. Trees were torn up by the roots, twisted off like reeds, and all fencing in the path of the cyclone leveled to the ground. On some farms near here hardly a building was left standing.

Bethlehem, Miss., March 20.—Will Wicker's house was destroyed by a tornado and a child killed.

Little Rock, Ark., March 20.—A tornado passed through portions of Jefferson and Desha counties Saturday afternoon. Telegraph wires were blown down and the details are coming in slowly. At Robroy five houses were blown down and one man killed. The town of Dumas, in Desha county, was struck and considerable damage done. Nearly all the houses in the town were either blown down or damaged and several persons were wounded, but so far as can be learned no lives were lost.

Pine Bluff, Ark., March 20.—Further details of the fearful storm, which swept over portions of Arkansas Saturday morning, reached Pine Bluff Sunday. At Walnut Lake three persons were killed.

Atlanta, Ga., March 20.—A special to the Constitution from Waynesboro, Ga., says a cyclone passed over Burke county at three o'clock Sunday morning. In the vicinity of Waynesboro four people were killed. Several houses were demolished and much damage done.

SIGNS THE TREATY.

The Queen Regent of Spain Signs Her Signature to the Historic Peace Document.

Madrid, March 18.—The queen regent has signed the treaty of peace between Spain and the United States.

The next step must be taken by Spain, that is, she must name her special envoy and notify the United States government of the probable date upon which he will present himself in Washington with the exchange copy of the treaty of peace. Although in most instances little more than a perfunctory ceremony, in the case of the exchange of ratifications of this treaty the details will be of more than ordinary interest, for the occasion will be historical.

The signed treaty of peace will be forwarded to the French ambassador at Washington, M. Jules Cambon, for exchange with the one signed by President McKinley. No decree on the subject will be published in the official Gazette.

The draft of the treaty of peace between Spain and the United States was signed in Paris on December 10, 1898. It was approved by the United States senate by a vote of 57 to 27, on February 6, and was signed by the president on February 10.

Washington, March 20.—M. Cambon, the French ambassador, called at the department of state Saturday and served formal notice of the signature of the peace treaty at Madrid. Secretary Hay has indicated his preference that M. Cambon shall act as the agent for the Spanish government in the final exchange of ratifications. This should hasten the last formalities.

Is a Room for No One.

Toledo, O., March 17.—Mayor S. M. Jones, who is one of the socialistic leaders who is a prime mover in the conference called by Gov. Pingree, of Michigan, to meet in Buffalo in June, denies that the object of the meeting is to form a new political party or to boom anyone for office. He stated that it was purely a conference to aid in the bettering of labor conditions.

Reestablishing Camp Meade.

Washington, March 16.—The reestablishment of Camp Meade, near Middletown, Pa., for the muster out of volunteer troops is going rapidly forward. An officer of the quartermaster's department has been there some time and is now putting the camp in condition for the occupancy of the troops.

For a Woollen Combine.

Foxcroft, Me., March 15.—Manufacturers of men's woollen goods in this section have been approached by representatives of the syndicate who propose to bring about a combination of woollen manufacturers under one management with a capital of $10,000,000.

Calls to Effect.

Sacramento, Cal., March 20.—The California legislature adjourned here today at 11:45 o'clock Sunday morning without electing a United States senator to succeed Stephen M. White, term expired.

Passed Away.

Augusta, Ga., March 20.—Patrick Walsh died at his home here yesterday, aged 29 years. He was former United States senator from Georgia, mayor of Augusta and editor of the Chronicle.

Arrests for Spanish Mail.

Madrid, March 20.—The Pais says it is certain that the Duke of Arco, the former Spanish minister to Mexico, will be appointed minister of Spain at Washington.

WINDSOR HOTEL BURNED.

New York's Fashionable Hostelry Is Destroyed and Several Persons Lose Their Lives.

SCENES OF EXCITEMENT AND HORROR.

The Death List Now Runs Up 16, with 45 Missing and 51 Injured—Property Loss Is Enormous—Police Think the Building Was Lured by Thieves—An Important Arrest.

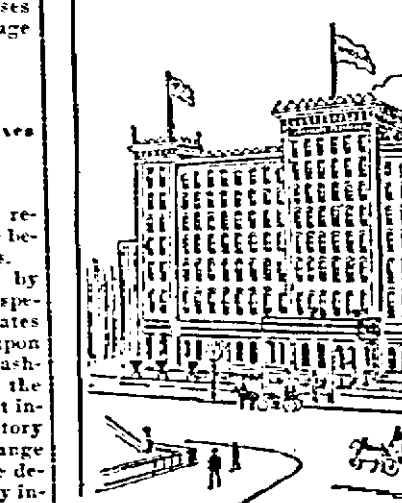

New York, March 18.—Flames which originated from the lighting of a lace curtain burst forth from the second floor of the Windsor hotel at Forty-seventh street and Fifth avenue shortly after three o'clock Friday afternoon, just as the St. Patrick's day parade was passing the building, and in a few moments they had leaped up to the roof and enveloped the entire Fifth avenue and Forty-seventh street fronts of the hotel. Ten minutes later the flames were roaring through the interior of the hotel and all escape by means of stairways and elevators was cut off. There was the wildest scene of excitement within and without the building. Hundreds of guests and employees were in the hotel when the fire broke out, and for many of them escape with safety was impossible. Probably from ten to fifteen lives were lost within a half hour, and 25 or 40 persons were injured in jumping from windows and in rushing through the roaring flames in the corridors and on the stairways.

The Dead. Mrs. Elizabeth Leland, wife of Warren Leland, proprietor of the hotel, burns of body; died at Flower hospital.

Helen Leland, daughter of Warren Leland, jumped from window; body identified at East Fifty-first street station.

Mrs. Amelia Padlock, Irvington, N. Y., jumped from window; body at East Fifty-first street station.

THE ILL-FATED WINDSOR HOTEL, NEW YORK.

Nancy Ann Kirk, (Mrs. James S. Kirk), Chicago, died in Bellevue.

Mrs. M. Pierce, Mason, Ga.; died at 19 East Forty-ninth street.

Elizabeth Grady, Elizabeth City, N. C.; body at East Fifty-first street station.

Mrs. Addie Gibson, aged 25; shock; died at Murray Hill hotel.

Elaborate Louise Goodman, aged 17; fractured skull; died at Bellevue.

John Connolly, hotel employee, burns and internal injuries; died at Flower hospital.

Unknown woman, middle aged, jumped from window; died at Miss Helen Gould's house.

Unknown woman; body at East Fifty-first street station.

Unknown woman, partially identified as the wife of a Baltimore financier; fell while hitting herself down by the rope fire escape from sixth floor, and died in Miss Helen Gould's house.

Unknown child, thrown from window by mother; body not recovered.

Unknown woman, mother of the child; jumped from window; body not recovered.

A revised list of the missing, made up at midnight, brings the list up to 41.

The Harmed Hotel.

[The Windsor hotel was seven stories high and almost square in form, had a frontage of 20 feet on Fifth avenue and occupied the entire block between East Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets. The front center of the building was eight stories in height. It had also two wings, each seven stories in height and 12 feet in length. There were more than 20 rooms in the hotel. The building was chiefly of brick and was architecturally simple. It was thoroughly equipped for fighting fire and had pumps equal in force to six of the most powerful fire engines in the city. It cost about three-quarters of a million dollars to build, and was owned by John T. Daly, and the building was first opened as a hotel in September, 1912. The Windsor for many years was one of the most exclusive hotels in the city and was in the height of its glory up to ten years ago. It was the rendezvous of all the great Washington and New York society. The hotel had been known as "Wall Street by night" because of the visits of the great financiers. President and Mrs. McKinley always stopped at the Windsor and celebrities of all kinds were its guests. Mr. Leland, the proprietor of the hotel, took the hotel of the Windsor shortly after the close of the world's fair in Chicago.]

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

Sixteen Known to Be Dead and 45 Are Missing—Many Lives.

New York, March 20.—The latest estimate with reference to the Windsor hotel fire places the number of dead at 16; injured, 51; missing, 45; value of the hotel, furniture, etc., is placed at $12,500,000; insurance, $5,000,000. The loss to the guests will reach nearly $1,000,000. Two families have lost jewelry valued at $400,000, and there are scores of other wealthy families who lived in the hotel and who lost jewels worth thousands of dollars.

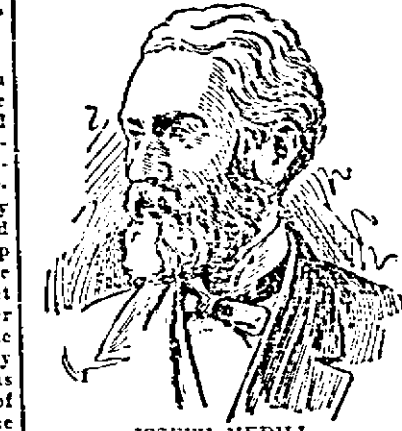

looting the rooms. The police arrested Frank Kane near the hotel and found in a bundle that he carried property valued at $10,000 which was identified as having come from the hotel.

JOSEPH MEDILL DEAD.

Veteran Chicago Newspaper Man Expires in San Antonio, Tex.—A Sketch of His Career.

Chicago, March 17.—Joseph Medill, for almost half a century editor of the Chicago Tribune and former mayor of Chicago, is dead.

At noon Thursday came the sad intelligence from San Antonio, Tex., that the veteran newspaper man had expired in that city at the Hotel Menger, where he had been staying since early in the winter.

Mr. Medill was 76 years old, and the cause of death is assigned simply as old age, with its attendant weaknesses. His heart, it is also said, had troubled him for the last two years and heart failure was presumably a complication hastening the end.

Joseph Medill was born in St. John, N. B., April 8, 1822. His parents, who were of Scotch-Irish descent, moved to Stark county, O., in 1824, establishing themselves upon a small farm near Mansfield. Joseph helped his father with the work and made his pocket money by getting up clubs of subscribers for the New York Weekly Tribune.

which at that time was read by many of the farmers throughout the country. A. C. Walter, a Quaker neighbor, had a library which he placed at the young man's disposal, and it was not long before the contents of every book on the shelves were mastered.

In 1840 he bought the Cohocton Whig, which he renamed the Republican. It was a free-roll white paper. In 1842 this journal was consolidated with another free-roll paper called the Free Democrat and rechristened the Leader. Its office was in Cleveland. About the same time Mr. Medill gave material assistance in founding the republican party in Ohio. In the winter of 1845-46 Mr. Medill sold his interest in the Leader to Mr. Edwin Cowles and coming to Chicago in May bought a large interest in the Chicago Tribune, a paper which was then almost bankrupt. It was placed on a paying basis by the new owners. In 1874 Mr. Medill secured full control of the paper and through it made a fortune.

The Spanish Prisoners.

Washington, March 20.—The Spanish government, through the French ambassador, M. Cambon, has presented to the state department a representation as to the condition of the Spanish prisoners held by the Philippine insurgents, setting forth what they consider the serious results arising from Gen. Otis' recent prohibition of efforts by the Spanish authorities to secure the release of the prisoners.

Noted Train Robber Sentenced.

Meridian, Miss., March 16.—Thrasher Meade, the notorious negro train robber, safe blow and landit, was sentenced to the federal penitentiary in the United States court here Wednesday for 20 years. In passing sentence Judge Niles expressed regret that he could not under the law sentence Meade to death.

Town Out of Debt.

Des Moines, Ia., March 18.—The state of Iowa is out of debt. By July 1 there will be a surplus in the treasury. The income for July and August is so small, however, that the surplus will be dissipated until after October. By January 1, 1900, the state will have a big surplus.

Not to Be Recognized.

Washington, March 16.—The committee which was appointed by the Cuban military assembly at Havana to come to Washington to secure recognition, it can be stated, will not be recognized in any official capacity.

Not Galtly.

Chicago, March 16.—Haron Curt E. Von Eldenfeldt, the first foreign nobleman ever brought to trial in a Chicago criminal court, yesterday was declared not guilty of the murder of Constable Charles A. McDonald.

Tour of Inspection.

Washington, March 16.—About 60 senators and representatives have accepted invitations from the Panama Canal company for a trip to inspect the route of the proposed Nicaragua and Panama canals.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water, and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder, and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmor & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. When writing be sure and mention that you read this generous offer in this paper.

AN ORIENTAL PEACH.

As a Slinger of Mongolian Taffy This Animal Was a Winner in a Walk.

Her majesty, Tsi An, empress of China, sat in her palace in the purple Forbidden City, with her brow resting on her thumb and her index finger pushed up through her fringe. Housung herself presently from her profound absorption she beckoned to a waiting-colored person flustered up against the yellow silk tapestry.

"Un-Hung," she said, "where is the emperors' peach?"

"Each year innumerable slaves into a million atoms, oh, amethyst flower of the Celestial Kingdom," he responded, lying flat on his chest before her, "but your slave wotteth not."

"No, most purple of our yellow lilies of the Yangtze-Kiang, do not wot where the emperor is?"

"And this to me?"

"Most beauteous descendant of all the gods, your slave speaks but the truth, though he lies here on his very stomach. He wotteth not where the emperor is."

"Save, dox, canine wretch, scum of the Yellow river, did I not tell you what to do?"

"Truly, most divine of all the gentle, purple peoples of Peking, and your slave did it to the queen's taste, so to speak."

"Tha, then, he said."

"As a mackerel, O, yellow anemone of the crystal sea."

"Why liest thou, knowing that he is dead?"

"How the dickens, most marvelous of mandarin matrons, do I know where he is? I'm no fortune teller."

"Oh, ah," smiled her majesty, again relapsing into thought, "bring an another," Cincinnati Enquirer.

EMERY HAMILIN.

The Demagogue in Modern Politics.

Mushrooms they say grow in a night. Not unlike the mushroom is your demagogue. He comes forth uncalled and unannounced, looks for unrest and discord, consorts with the discontented, revels with the critics of the party or persons in power, and ultimately assumes the role of boss or factional leader of one or the other political party. He has an elastic conscience, and much gall. He goes about preaching "reform," "get down close to the people," "the people demand it," etc., etc.

So specious is his manner, so plausible his speech, and so supreme his air and pose that few care to incur his displeasure. The assertion "the people demand it" is potential—easier to evade than to disprove, hence silence is taken for consent, and your demagogue goes his way talking reform and doing things political. So astute are his methods in flitting power and position as the representative of the people, that he passes unchallenged as the accredited exponent of the people's will. He has the credentials, fortified by the record in caucus and convention, and yet as a matter of fact he represents only his political henchmen and himself. Is the assertion challenged? Come with me, and give a day to political with the same assiduity that you do to your private business, and you can easily "find where the people goes" in paving the way for his unanimous selection as an accredited representative of the people.

If there is a convention, or office in sight his trail can be found winding through the villages, and over the hills of his hallow where long before he has selected delegates with promised support, at the people's caucus. The unsuspecting citizen attends the caucus, and assists in electing delegates from a list of names furnished to represent the people in convention.

Later these people's delegates assemble in convention with really no purpose or power to do aught but to ratify nominations made by your political long before. Read the platforms of your political party last fall, analyze the perfunctory pledges made in the name of the people by self-elected delegates. Political banquets, "political principles" enunciated under the taking of not-fascinating title of "reform."

At what caucus did the people's delegates not under the whip and spur of your reform master politician, direct the insertion of a referendum plank, an anti-lobby plank or even an anti-pass plank in the platforms of the political parties? Have the people taken any part in formulating, much less in advocating as "party principles" this trio of humbugs?

But I am told that the people have endorsed these planks. Is that true? The planks were in the platforms of both parties, the voter had no choice, he must vote for his party candidates, or refrain from voting at all. If he voted he took the chance of having his vote mis-construed by your demagogue.

Have the people expressed any desire for the referendum? Let the paucity of the vote—when that plank was in their platform—on the amendment to the banking law make answer.

Do the people want an anti-lobby law? Nor they are too familiar with the bill of rights and our Constitution.

Had the people anything to do with the insertion of the anti-pass plank in their platforms? If so, when, except on the theory that whatever is inserted in party platforms has their endorsement. This is the theory of your demagogue. The trap was set by him, and it is his method of getting endorsement. But on what occasion and where on its merits has majestic public opinion evolved so great courtesy to the railroad corporations?

When did the people feel so rich that they decided that the railroad companies, which received their charters from the people on condition, be now unconditionally released from the terms heretofore exacted and always paid as consideration. When did the people consent to be taxed from $50,000 to $100,000, additional state tax, that they might have the pleasure of paying the railroads for transporting the servants of the state.

This masterful stroke of business was evolved in the hands of your demagogue reformer, who seems incapable of distinguishing between the performance of a contract and the giving of a bribe. Or was it conceived in the interest of the railroads, then supported by your demagogue, before the innocents as a master stroke of political reform?

Your reformer advocates the Referendum. If he is sincere let him urge the immediate passage of the "anti-pass bill," and submit it to a vote of the people at the spring election. He can then see what the people think of his generosity to the railroads at his expense.

One of the specious arguments iterated, and reiterated on the stump by your demagogue was, "We must keep close to the people." By direct vote let the people elect their officers and representatives. Early in the present session of the legislature Congress was petitioned to change the mode of electing United States Senator, and to provide that the people may vote direct for U. S. Senator. Look on that picture and then look on this.

There is a bill before the legislature the object and purpose of which is to take from the people their right to elect one of their most important county officers, that of the "County Superintendent of Schools."

Your reformer could not have well touched a more tender and I might almost say sacred spot on the body politic. If there is an institution dear to the hearts of the people it is what your demagogue is pleased to call "The little red school house." "The common school." They are the nurseries where our children receive their early education and they are the sole fountains of knowledge for the masses. The purpose announced for the change is to take their election out of politics. What contaminating political influence centers around the election of the county superintendent, that is not also present in the election of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction? If this announced purpose is the chief intent of the bill, it should be killed.

We have 70 odd County Superintendents, whose combined salaries amount to about $90,000. This bill proposes 115 Superintendents or Inspectors at salaries ranging from $1200.00 to $1500.00 each, making in the aggregate $140,000, besides an assistant State Superintendent at a salary of $2000, clerks, stenographers, etc. The bill should be entitled "A Bill to multiply offices and to double the salaries of County Superintendents." From whence is it proposed to select the Inspectors? From the overcrowded colleges and universities, the same source from whence came the lawyers, or many of them, recently assembled at Madison, as the "State bar association," of whom a correspondent wrote, "When I looked over the school of Lawyers assembled at Madison last week I marveled why the Almighty came to make so many heads bald on the inside."

Your Demagogue never suggests anything practical. He is never heard to advocate that public officers be taken from the business and better class of the community, but you find him continually plotting, "The people demand it," "get down near the people," "Reform, Reform" is the refrain he charmingly warbles while seeking political preferment with his eyes on the public treasury.

A neat little booklet by H. I. Cleveland describing "A Thrilling Night's Ride on the North-Western Fast Mail" is interesting and contains many facts relating to the terrific speed of the mail trains that run between Chicago and the West over the North-Western line. One paragraph in the booklet told of a speed of two miles per minute between the stations Denison and Arion, Iowa, and of mile after mile clipped off in less than a minute's time.

Geo. Marshall was over from Woodboro Monday.

Mrs. Warren Reed is visiting friends at Choate, Mich., this week.

M. B. Collier, of Jeffris, transacted business in Rhinelander Monday.

A good dollar kid glove, all sizes, price cut to 49 cents at Fendler's.

P. E. Berard, of Merrill, was in Rhinelander Tuesday on business.

See the line of twenty-five cent carpets at Fendler's. They are winners.

Uncle Tom's Cabin at the opera house Wednesday evening, March 29.

Harry Kemp has accepted a position in S. S. Miller's office and has commenced the study of law.

Easter opening, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 28 and 29, at the millinery store of Mrs. N. Turner.

When you wish for good bread buy a sack of Pillsbury's Best flour at Fendler's. It always pleases.

Fiske & Weldon's famous orchestra in concert at the opera house Friday evening, March 21. Seats now on sale.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Brown are happy over the arrival of a little daughter at their home Monday night.

P. P. Stoltzman left Sunday night for Chicago where he will stock up with goods for the spring trade for his different stores.

Defect ware for the kitchen, rapidly taking the place of granite. Guaranteed not to chip, crack or discolor, at Clark & Lennon's.

Jno. W. Fendon was in the city last Friday to arrange a settlement with County Treasurer Krueger on behalf of the Town of Hazelhurst.

S. Radford, general manager of the Oakbrook Log & Lumber Co. of Choate, Mich., was in the city Monday on important business.

Chas. A. Booth, of the Evening Wisconsin Co., Milwaukee, stopped off here yesterday for a short stay. He was on his way home from Ashland.

J. A. Fields, an old time conductor on the North-Western road, was in the city Tuesday and Wednesday calling on his old friends.

Ladies will take pleasure in visiting the Millinery opening of Hamilton & Edwards, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 28 and 29. All the latest modes in ladies' and children's head wear.

Not one child dies where ten formerly died from croup. People have learned the value of One Minute Cough Cure and use it for severe lung and throat troubles. It immediately stops coughing. It never fails.

See the aluminum novelties at Clark & Lennon's. Iron kitchen utensils done away with. Frying pans, skillets, basins, spoons, chafing dishes, wash basins, etc., all made of the new metal, light, clean, will not rust, no acid can corrode it. Medium in price.

J. Sheer, Sedalia, Mo., conductor on electric street car line, writes that his little daughter was very low with croup, and her life saved after physicians had failed, only by using One Minute Cough Cure.

As the season of the year when pneumonia, la grippe, sore throat, coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis and lung troubles are to be guarded against, nothing "is a fine substitute" will "answer the purpose," or is "just as good" as One Minute Cough Cure. That is the one infallible remedy for all lung, throat or bronchial troubles. Indist vigorously upon having it if "something else" is offered you.

Jas. A. Hoba who has been employed as day engineer in the saw mill of George Clayton for the past seven years, resigned his position last week and has left with his family for New London where he will manage a large farm the coming summer.

Mr. Hoba is an engineer of long experience having followed that calling since he was fifteen years of age. He was well liked by all his fellow workmen in the mill and his departure with his family is generally regretted by a large circle of friends.

That the public library is well patronized will be apparent to any visitor to the rooms during Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. Misses Van Tassel, the librarians, stated to a New North representative that during the present month the average number of books called for were 120 at each opening day, and that calls since the library had first been opened had averaged considerably over 100 each day. The demand is mostly for works of fiction, though a considerable number of juvenile books are also called for.

A five-style wrestling match has been arranged to take place here, between John Rowett, of Ironwood, Mich., champion cornish wrestler of the world, and Wm. Clark, of this city. The match will take place the latter part of this month, and will be for a purse and gate receipts.

It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at a drug-store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Schulz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. For sale by Anderle & Hinman.
